Each match is comprised of numerous animations, all of which are created and integrated into the game. Each animation, from a simple chest touch to a dynamic take-on, is created with player-perceived motion through VR technology, as part of a multi-year program to enhance player immersion, including: New Player Motion New Player Motion was used to create the movement of all 28 real-world players, including a wide range of regional variations, such as physicality, speed and tackling styles. Using the data collected from players using the VR system during a complete football match, we were able to recreate the movements of these players in FIFA 22. This new Player Motion comes to life in a range of new game modes. Acclaimed Two-Man Combos Traditional soccer comprises of two-man combos. However, soccer and other team sports also feature a much wider range of combinations. These include midfielders, wingers, fullbacks, striker-forwards and the variety of options available to create attacking and defending combinations. New Combos for Dynamic, Rounding Combinations In FIFA 22, players can now select 3 variations of Combos, including "High Risk," "Play It Safe" or "Dynamic" Combos. This allows players the option of using a deeper run-in and deeper cross to gain space, to create a three-on-one or two-on-one with a better position for a header. Balanced Tactical Style of Play FIFA 22 follows a similar play style, to the previous game, with some changes. Unlike FIFA 19, where a throw-in is almost always a free play, in FIFA 22 players will now have to select the correct approach to receive the ball based on the tactical situation of the game. Each player has a choice, whether it be to whip it in, cross it or play a hopeful chest pass. Players who are not in possession will be highlighted in a different way to that shown in FIFA 19. Other changes include the introduction of a 'Defensive Boost' and variations to sprints and recoveries. New AI Teampay AI AI can now be used to create a number of different tactical situations, including through-pacing into the penalty box and around the box. The opposition AI will also learn over time and improve their ability to press
