For MicroMag (Model # IDT3333-xx), user can configure the reader via the software (you just need to find the correct command in the manual for the reader model number and enter it in Notepad). Following are some things need to be noted: 1. Users need to program the card readers. User can start the software, select the "configure" button, then input the reader's card reader command code (which can be found from the manual) in Notepad via keyboard. Following are some thing that user need to aware before running the command. If any of the following problem occurs, simply remove the card and run the command again. 2. User need to provide a factory default card reader number which is determined by the reader manufacturer. User can find the factory default card reader in the software. If user input incorrect factory default, the card reader will not be recognized by the software. The Windows-based application samples are designed to operate either in the 32-bit Windows Environment or the 64-bit Windows environment with Windows XP Service Pack 2 (SP2). These application samples were developed using Visual C++ 6.0. For information about previous SDKs from MagTek, follow the links below.
